Heart to Heart Chat – 11.19.2023

My dear friends,

It is so common in our human life that people expect something out of what they invest in something. If someone invests more time on building a good relationship, then the expectation would be a healthy and life-long friendship. If we invest more hours in our workplace, then we expect a raise in our salary. Nobody wants to work for nothing or for no returns.

The same thing occurred in the life of Peter. He asked Jesus, “Behold, we have left everything and followed you; what then will there be for us?” Despite of being mentored by Jesus so long, Peter was still measuring everything in human terms. As Peter left the boat, net and all that he had for his livelihood, he expected some material benefits coming back to him. This is the confusion we all have. When we accept Jesus as our sole master and leader, we are not doing it just for a few benefits he can offer us in our life. When we accept Him and His Kingdom, then we are willing to embrace a new way of living our life. If he becomes the Lord of our life, then we agree to live a life of mystery in and through him. This mystery unravels as we desire to live every day for him. When we wake up in the morning, the first question comes to our mind should be, Lord, how do you want to use my life today to serve you, my spouse, my friends and my community? This offers us the clarity as to whether I want to spend my whole day for my own purposes and plans of life I have or the purposes of Christ’s Kingdom. If we are certain that I want to spend the day for His purposes, then we should have the will and courage to surrender our plans to the plans of God’s Kingdom. That would be a plan of self-giving. “When I give up control over my life – my plans, my hopes and my desires – and entrust it all into the hands of God, when I follow his moral teachings and live according to the way he made me, I actually discover fullness of life at a deeper level because I am surrendering my life to God’s plan, which is so much greater than my own (Edward Sri, 2017).” This is exactly what Peter understood at the end. When I am willing to surrender my plans to the plans of God, then life brings a deeper meaning to me. We discover fullness of life in such a living because Christ navigates our life with His Spirit and Love. This life will still have all the human struggles we all walk through. However, Jesus is always there to help us through them all. Let us check how far we are willing to surrender our daily lives to the Lord?

Your brother in Christ,
 Fr. Xavier Ilango

November 19, 2023; 33rd Sunday in Ordinary Time

“Well done, my good and faithful servant. Since you have been faithful in small matters, I will give you great responsibilities.”
 - MATTHEW 25:21

God calls us to nurture and develop the gifts He has given us and then generously return a portion with increase. He doesn’t want us to waste or hoard the gifts He has given us. He expects us to grow our gifts, to use them wisely, and to be generous with them. Unfortunately, many of us are not generous in proportion to all that God has given us. God asks us to be generous with all our gifts, especially the one that means the most to you.
